277 Graduates Await Commencement June 5th Staff To Distribute Key Tuesday

Book Is Largest In History; Features Informal Pictures And Silver Anniversary Theme

The 1939 KEY, the largest to be published in Bowling Green's history, will be issued May 30, according to a statement from Editor Harlan E. Highfield. Students may secure their annuals by presenting a book and the necessary amount of sales tax in the Reception Hall.

The outstanding features of this year's book are the exceptionally large pictures, including several full page spreads and the informality of the organization pages. Other highlights include shots of the 1939 May Queen and the May Day celebrations of last week, a feature section of staff favorites, photos of homecoming festivities, several angles that didn't come through the dean's office, with a liberal sprinkling of informal shots throughout.

The division of staff favorites is composed of students selected by the staff. Each man submitted a woman's picture and each woman submitted a man's picture.

Dressed in blue and silver the color scheme of the 196-page annual is arranged to fit in with the Silver Anniversary.

The sport section, double the size of last year's, includes a full page spread of a photo shot on the grid-iron.

The book was arranged, written, and published entirely by students of the University, with Ruth Osborn, editor-elect for 1940, working as assistant editor.

Men to Help in Big-Little Brother Project Next Fall

At its final meeting of the year held recently on the Maumee, the Y. M. C. A. cabinet voted to sponsor again the Big and Little Brother movement.

The purpose of this project is to acquaint the freshmen who plan to come here next fall with the University. All men on the campus will have an opportunity to take part in the movement.

Y. M. C. A. members and all other interested students are asked to sign the paper on the cork board in the Administration Building, giving their name, summer address and major field. Sometime during the summer, the "Y" will send each "Big Brother" the name and address of a prospective freshman. The "Big Brother's" job is to write to the freshmen, telling him, among other things, about the University and to help him get adjusted to college life next fall.

An effort will be made to assign to each interested upperclassman a "Little Brother" whose major field corresponds to that of the upperclassman. The sign-up paper will remain on the board until the end of the semester.

Dr. Allen to Speak At Columbia U. English Institute

Professor Will Lecture On "Science of Words"

Dr. Gay W. Allen, professor of English, has accepted an invitation to deliver an evening lecture on "The New Science of Words" at the English Institute, which will meet at Columbia University in New York City from Aug. 28 to Sept. 9.

Dr. Allen's lecture, to be given in the Harkness Academic Theatre, is one of a series of addresses by distinguished persons on recent trends in literary scholarship. The English Institute has been organized by the Modern Language Association and will draw several hundred college professors from all states of the nation.

Other speakers who will appear on the evening programs include Carl Van Doren, author and critic; Marjorie Nicolson, Smith College; Townsend Scudder, Swarthmore College; Howard F. Lowry, College of Wooster; and Luther H. Evans, national director of the Historical Records Survey of the Works Progress Administration.

Dr. Allen has, for some time, been interested in semantics as an approach to the study of Walt Whitman's poetry. At the suggestion of Prof. Robert E. Spiller, director of the Institute's evening lectures, Dr. Allen will give a broad discussion of the science of words.

Drew Pearson Hits Dictators, Politics In Chapel Speech

"America, while it condemns Germany's warlike attitude, is selling war materials to that country," declared Drew Pearson, noted world traveler and famed co-author of "The Washington Merry-Go-Round" as he spoke in chapel last Wednesday before a capacity audience.

Mr. Pearson, who spoke in an informal manner of domestic as well as international affairs, gave a review of presidential timber for 1940 and commented on the Roosevelt administration. He said that the New Deal term will go down as the most inefficient and most idealistic one in the country's history.

England Unprepared

"England at the time of the Munich Agreement, was woefully unprepared for war and even now they are not ready for a German air attack," he commented.

The noted journalist also stated that if war came in Europe, France, England and Russia would be sure to be together and America would find it difficult to stay out.

Pearson used the three "laboratory wars" which he called the Ethiopian, Chinese-Japanese, and the Spanish conflicts, to show the glaring inadequacy of the American neutrality laws.

Holds Forum

After the lecture Mr. Pearson held a forum hour in the Administration Building library. Most of the questions asked him concerned international affairs, but in answer to a question asked by Bill Frutig, News sport columnist, he said that he began his journalistic career as a cub reporter.

Wayne University Has Busy Speech Department

Editor

Harlan E. Highfield, Commoner from Bear, Del., and editor of the 1939 Key announces that the annual will be issued May 31. Highfield, who is also president of Pi Kappa Delta, will graduate in August.

Going Picnicking? Maybe!!!

With June 2 only a few days away, social activities are filling campus week-ends and students are hoping for fair weather for the remainder of the term.

Although this article is not primarily for the purpose of dampening the spirits of its readers, the weather man predicts nothing but rain for this week-end. According to the majority of 1939 Almanacs this week's weather will be variable, in spite of the fact that students would prefer that there be sunny days and moonlight nights.

May 25—Rain—Music Dept. Concert—Speech Recital

May 26—Rain—Delhi Picnic—Commoner's Picnic

May 27—Cloudy—Las Amigas Formal—Book-Motor Banquet

May 28—Fair—Radio Play Broadcast

May 29—Fair

May 30—Cloudy—Decoration Day

Of course, these are only predictions and after all, the weather is always variable, so why worry?

Students Will Give One Act Play on Radio Sunday

Members of the speech department will present a one act play, "The Fall of The City", written by Archibald MacLeish, over station WTOL Sunday from 4:15 to 4:45 p. m. The play is under the supervision of Prof. Upton Palmer and the direction of James H. Platt.

"The Fall of The City" is written in blank verse and was the first play of this type to be given over the air in this country. It was first produced on Sunday evening, April 11, 1937 by the Columbia Workshop under the direction of Irvin Reis. Such radio artists as Orson Welles, Burgess Meredith, and Adelaide Klein were in the original cast.

The cast of characters in the University production will include Leonard Shafitz, Eleanor Geauman, Abe Hoffman, Jack Doane, and Gaylord Groff. Other members of the cast have not yet been fully decided upon.

Celebrate on Monday . . .

Win, lose, or draw, we celebrate—and on top of that we celebrate on Monday. Such is the independent twentieth-century idea of how to live a life removed from social mores and customs.

Who said we had to take a bath and celebrate on Saturday anyway? Why save when you win, borrow when you lose, or rationalize over a dead heat? We only have one life to live. Why not live that life today, out in the sun, not in the shadow of restraint. Gilt-edge security in a life of cause and effect behind solid oak doors is not for the man who lives his life to enjoy it and who shuns customs which originated when gregarious man tried to stay the liberal element in his ranks.

The celebrate-on-Monday philosophy is not for deans or preachers on the right who cause mothers to shine Johnnie's ears par excellence and who dilly over whether one should bow or shake hands with the kings. It is for the man who sees life as a thing to have and enjoy, for him who has backbone enough to stand up for what he thinks without making a fool of himself. It's for the man who says "It's this way," not because it's in the book or because papa did it thus but because he has an idea that it ought to be this way and is man enough to follow it through—win, lose, or draw.

War's Exit From Front Pages . . .

We in America will be relatively free for a while from any more of the so-called "war scares" which have plagued the front pages of our newspapers for the past few weeks. For the rearment bill is well on its way toward making some interested individuals amazingly wealthy and toward making the rest of us experience a false prosperity which will mean so much to the well-being of our esteemed congressmen in the next election.

When Senator Gerald Nye was making his investigations of the causes of war a few years ago, he spoke of the remarkable "coordination" between the time of voting on armament bills and of newspaper reports of alleged Japanese acts of aggression aimed at upsetting our American security.

At that time it was the "Yellow Peril" that we feared, according to our newspapers. Now it is the "axis."

The routine bickerings of belligerent dictators and cautious capitalists will be carried on as they have been carried on since Italy and Germany discovered the phrase of "encirclement of the havenots" and began to assert themselves in European politics much to the discomfort of England and France.

But these daily maneuverings will cease to play the important part in American press discussions which they have assumed during the debates on the rearment bill.

In fact, now that the "certain few" have what they want in the armament bill, it will probably take the novelty of a war to bring so much as a mention of European affairs to the front pages of our press.

In Defense of Democracy . . .

We regard the production of "Juarez" and "Confessions of a Nazi Spy" as such a singular departure from the innocuous pictures Hollywood has been prone to turn out, that their significance cannot be under-estimated.

For once, courageous pictures defend democracy with a thoughtfulness and integrity, forceful enough to convince even those who still think democracy is a debatable and controversial topic. There is no pulling of punches. There can't be any. Democracy is too vital and energetic a topic today to be bandied about by insipid characters and stories and spurious flag-waving.

With a shrewd eye for the modern parallels involved, "Juarez" speaks out for the downtrodden, for the poor, and for the democracy which is their hope. "Confessions of a Nazi Spy" hammers home the menace of the subversive influence of Nazism with a factual, and so all the more amazing, picture of the workings of the Bund, its spies, and attacks on American democracy.

These pictures are indicative of the growing awareness of the American public to the fact that America is not merely one of the democracies. It is democracy.

To us as students, these pictures provide the concreteness and vitality of that which we have been talking and writing about for years. To us as citizens, they are a tribute to our mode of life.

As such we welcome and support these pictures in the hope that the near future will see more of them, not only in defense of democracy but also on the offense against the enemies of democracy.

Knock Before You Enter

By
Gordon Humphrey

It's a great thing, this selling flowers for the disabled veterans of the World War. If a man has seen action on the front lines and has been injured in action, then nothing is too good for him. But it might be a better idea to take the money away from the birds who got us into the war, give it to the Vets, and, just to make it a fair exchange, give flowers to the war mongers—lilies preferred.

Then, while we're on the subject, how about a little advance donation for the disabled veterans of future wars?

THE PICNIC:

It was a charming day, its stillness broken only by the buzzing of pretty little flies and mosquitoes around your ears and nose and by the steady swish swash of watermelon juice dripping with a steady plip plop from Musser's chin. The fragrance of dead fish rose from the river bank. The stillness was interrupted as Musser swatted a fly on his nose. Quiet again, broken only by an occasional rat-at-tat-tat as Musser spat a mouthful of watermelon seeds onto his plate. Then he shouted, "Pass me that bale of cotton an' two more chunks of melon." He skidded into a talkative mood. "What day is it?" Then, "Can you lend me a buck till Christmas?" after which "It looks like rain?" I answered those questions in order: "Sunday, no, and what of it!" We had a lovely time.

HEELS COME IN PAIRS:

H. C. Witwer remarked that you'll find a four flusher wherever there are two people, but in the exceptional case of Messrs. Harlan Highfield and Tony Frances you'll find two four-flushers wherever you find these two four flushers. These two prunes room together, sneak out with each other's frills, trade suits; never pay their bills, and—through the irony of fate—are fairly big BIG SHOTS on this campus, a certain 5 Bros. to the contrary. Both punks are charter members of my Salted Society of Saintly Skeptics, sometimes vulgarly known as the Cynics Club. At the recent meeting of the Cynics Club these two fugitives from a Mother Goose rhyme settled the Nation's fate—in fact, they settled everything but their bills. It was some party at that. "Tiger" Lilley poured, and, figuratively speaking, Frances and Highfield poured it rather thickly.

DRIPPINGS:

To the frails: Just because the boy friend says you should be in the movies he doesn't necessarily mean that you are beautiful and an actress—he was probably thinking of Minnie Mouse.

At these University dances a guest has to jitterbug in self defense.

It will be interesting to come back here for the Golden Anniversary Celebration. Probably by that time the Bee Gee News will still be campaigning for a smoking room, and Musser will be a senior.

Here's one I've swiped: "A college girl got her Ph. D. her second year—she married him."

The other columnists in this paper aren't doing so well in the live stock business—I got all their goats last week.

ON THE Q. T.

by
MUSSEY

Tis true Pres. Roosevelt has laid his cards on the table. But it will take more than Big Business and the government kicking at each other's shins, and a new deal to trump out our national problems.

Art Shanly says, "Hitler likes to think of liberty, best, in the concrete!"

Good thing we have free speech in this country, because nobody would pay a cent to read "Beetle Brow's" writing!

Charlie Horse says America needs a few more Beavers. They'd at least give a dam for the country!

Professor Schwarz says he inherited ideals. This generation inherited new deals!

If anyone thinks that there is no place now a days for rugged individualism, take in consideration the huge nicks the 1929 stock market made in the savings of our elders!

If a poor fellow married a rich girl, one could call that a state of matter-of-money!
'Biting the dust' is not saying the pugilist has lots of sand.

Democracy means that you choose to read your favorite comic strip!

It gripes us to see so many females trying Ann Sheridan's glamour girl appearances. One can't put on the dog without him wagging his tail and giving the whole thing away.

(Author's Note) Well folks "Beetle Brow" Humphrey and I had our picnic. No sooner did Beetle finish unwrapping his half of the lunch, than the buzzards started to circle. A chicken hawk swooped down and grabbed one of Beetle's sandwiches, ate it on the fly, dropped dead within a hundred feet. Therefore Beetle tried to sneak and poison me. I still hate him.

ONE AT A TIME

By ELEANOR GEAUMAN

"Mr. Highfield is not such a bad sort, but he could be used as a first assistant in those new courses they are going to have next year" is the statement of Art Shanly, Delhi Fraternity. Art is majoring in history and social science, and minoring in biological science, English, and Commercial. He will graduate with a B. S. in education.

Shanly was born at Ottawa Lake, Michigan, some twenty-five years ago, and graduated from Sylvania High in '31. While there he was interested in speech and dramatics, and had the lead in his class plays. He was interested, also, in athletics, and played baseball and football.

After graduating, Art did clerical work at the courthouse in Toledo for two years. There he listened to divorce cases, and has come to the conclusion that he doesn't want to get married until he's forty! He says, "I can control a glider, but I can't control women; everyone should stay in a field where he is master." He likes Gable and Cagney because they tell women where to get off at. But then Shanly weakens and admits that he likes blondes and always has. Art also worked in a stone quarry, setting and blasting dynamite, before he came to B. G.

ARTHUR SHANLY

Here, at Bowling Green, Shanly has gone to the top in speech work. He has debated for three years, and went to Kansas twice last year. He placed in the national extemp contest. He is interested in radio broadcasting as a special field in speech. He has lectured on soaring; his biggest ambition is to be a world traveler and lecturer. He is qualified for special distinction in Pi Kappa Delta. Art expresses the belief that speech does more to develop one's personality than any other work—he's a living example.

He has worked on the Bee Gee News, and is on this year's Key staff. As chairman of the membership committee of the Y.M.C.A., Art has done some very commendable work. He is a past president of Emerson; was one of the organizers of the C.C.O.; and has served as secretary-treasurer of the Student Council. Art doesn't leave Bowling Green very often—he heartily disapproves of the suitcase parade.

It should be evident by now that though Shanly likes "Stardust" and "swing" and doesn't miss many dances, he has developed a primary interest in flying. His hobby is building and repairing gliders, flying and soaring. He has done some flying, and though he has no license he hopes to own a plane two years after he's out of school. In the past four years, he has had some novel experiences in the air—during a lesson that he was giving, the wheel of the plane fell off. He had a couple near crack-ups when students grabbed the stick at the wrong time. This summer Art wants to fly, swim, and dance; — happy vacation, and remember you're not immune to angels, mermaids, and dancing partners.

Poetry Column

Song to Shatzel

(Tune — Juanita)

When in our dreaming
We remember Bowling Green,
Pictures of Shatzel
Flash on mem'ry's screen.
Its dear name we treasure
In our heart's most sacred shrine,
Where we keep each image
Which we hold divine.

Sing, all girls of Shatzel,
For the home that we hold dear;
Where we share life's splendor,
Through this college year.

Tasty Tid-Bits

Too many late dates proved costly to certain playful Shatzelites. And these nights are so-o-o romantic. Tough luck—Mary Lou and Edna.

Abe Keown, the Parrot Buggie man, will be haunting the dark corners of Court street this summer. Pretty swell, heh, Naomi.

Bob Wayland seems to be out in the cold again since a certain dark, handsome romeo in a green convertible has found that dark beauty of Bee Gee.

The Parrot wishes to express its thanks to students and graduates for their patronage this past school year. Good luck!

"Do you stir your tea with your right or with your left hand?" asked pretty Mary Herbert, as she sat with Arch, "the canny Scot" Steele one night in a booth at the Parrot and devoured a tasty sundae.

"The right one," answered Arch. "I just wondered," quickly replied Mary, "cause I use a spoon."

We uncovered the story the other day that "Beetle Brow" Humphrey had a major operation performed last summer. It seems that they removed a brass rail that had been pressing against his foot for years.

Landis Will Enter Ten Falcon Tracksters In Big Six Meeting Friday

Stellermen Drop Tough Games To Wittenburg, Bluffton Nines

Lutheran Champs Shut Out Falcons; Hit Ball Hard

Wittenburg's juggernaut baseball nine proved to be too tough for the local baseball squad as they rolled to an easy 7-0 victory over the Falcons, in a game played at the city park last Wednesday.

Shannon, Wittenburg's ace hurler, who has won 12 of his last 13 games, kept five Falcon hits well scattered and was never in serious trouble. Bowling Green was able to get a man around to third base in the third and again in the ninth, but each time the tall right-hander clamped down and the runners died there.

Tom Singell, diminutive Falcon hurler, suffered his first bad beating of the year. The heavy bats of the invaders clouted 11 hits good for 18 bases. Soskey relieved Singell in the late innings, but Tom was charged with the loss.

Archie Steele, the Canny Scot, was the only Bowling Green batsman that could effectively touch the offerings of the opposing moundman. The midget center fielder had two base hits to show for his three times at the plate. Boyer, Michaels, and Dunn were the other batters that hit safely.

Bluffton Beavers Defeat Locals In 11 Inning Fracas

The Bluffton Beavers gained full revenge for an early season defeat as they took a 9-8, eleven-inning victory from the Falcons in a loosely played game on the city diamond last Friday.

The Beavers spotted the locals a three-run lead in the initial inning on errors and then donated three more in the fourth in the same fashion. Meanwhile they picked up a pair of scores in the third and in the sixth. Then Bowling Green booted home four more runs. The Beavers played another in the seventh, but Bowling Green made it a new ball game again in the eighth.

Singell relieved Soskey on the hill in the ninth and silenced the invaders' bats until the first of the eleventh when Tetlow, great Bluffton athlete, singled home a run and then scored what proved to be the winning run a minute later. The Orangemen tried valiantly to pull the game out of the fire and nearly succeeded in doing so by scoring one run but the tying and winning runs were left stranded on the bases as the final putout was made.

FALCON THINLIES PREPARE FOR CONFERENCE CONCLAVE

When Bowling Green's Falcons travel to Granville Friday, they will be depending a lot on these stalwarts. Duff Madaras, left, will probably place in the discus, Cliff Foster, upper right, who has been flirting with the six foot mark, may pull a surprise, and Frank Goterba, lower right can be counted on for points in the low hurdles and dashes.

Other who will carry B. G. colors in the meet are Bill Frank, Dwight Toedter, Ben Schulman, Frank Higham, Floyd Bushong, Bill Frutig and Luther Rosen.

B. G. CINDER SQUAD TO COMPETE WITH STRONG OHIO TEAMS

Landismen Enter Annual Ohio Conference Tourney As Underdogs

Coach Landis will take a picked group of his tracksters to Granville Saturday to participate in the Big Six Track and Field Meet.

Although the local thinclads are not slated to walk off with the bunting they should pick up a goodly number of points.

Even though the sports writers have not picked a favorite to capture the crown won by Oberlin last year Baldwin-Wallace and the host team of Denison are expected to make good showings. B-W, an opponent of the Falcons, early in the season, is especially strong.

Bowling Green will be represented by Toedter, Rosen, Schulman, Higham, Madaras, Goterba, Frutig, Bushong, Habenstien, Foster and Franks.

Falcon Baseballers To Play Night Game For First Time

Local Nine Seek Revenge Against Findlay Oilers

A new chapter will be written in the history of Bowling Green University baseball May 30 when the Falcons invade Findlay for a night game.

The game which is scheduled for the Findlay Browns' park will be the first that any Orange and Brown team has played under lights.

In addition to the novelty, the Falcons will carry a capacity load of revenge for the Oilers.

The Findlay players were victors in a 1-0 pitching duel in their last meeting and the Falcons are confident of making their final game of the season the finest.

This holiday game is expected to draw a heavy crowd from both cities.

All Sorts From All Sports

By Bill Frutig

Pencil jottings from the nickel notebook which were taken while re-browsing thru old B. G. newspapers and talking to the coaches relative to the 25 year's existence of the Bowling Green State University reveal:

Clyde Kennemuth and Johnnie Doyle, who never hurried in their lives before coming to college, were the class of the Northwestern Ohio conference by virtue of their holding both low and high records. These boys had not only speed, but also coordination.

Max Leitman was one of the best football kickers Bee Gee ever had, and was also an excellent baseball player, according to the coaches' stories. They claimed he could have made the big leagues.

Coach Inman, the assistant backfield mentor here at our own U, was a great basketball and football man in his undergraduate days. In addition to captaining the football team, he, Harlan Kinney, and Dale Kuhlman made the Sigma Delta Psi.

BEFFY BORTEL WAS NIMBLE TACKLE

Beffy Bortel of the Ideal Cleaners was a nimble, fast charging, do-everything tackle in his day here . . . Played with the Stevenson brothers, Cliff and Don . . . Cliff is rated as the best center in years . . . Don now coaches at the Sharpels H. S. in West Virginia . . . Following them came Audrey who made a conference high-jump record which still stands . . . He's better known as "Red" and he also played end for the Falcons.

Fred Marsh, B. G. High School coach and Yale University football scout likewise was quite the tackle while playing intercollegiate football for ol' Bowling Green Normal.

MURRAY KNEW HOW TO CALL SIGNALS

Back in '33 the Falcons had a heady quarterback and a good punter who threw the forward pass that beat a strong T. U. team one homecoming . . . He is none other than the famous Ford Murray, now with the Heinz Company . . . Ford starred in basketball and baseball as well.

The first man to win the D. C. Brown athletic award was a football star named Forrest Warner, who now serves as superintendent of schools at Wayne.

Rated as one of Bee Gee's best tackles is Chet Chapman, now coaching at Davidson, N. C.

Finally, we come to Ham Place and his brother Bob, who were basketball players. Bob is somewhere in the East as a missionary while Ham is the chief animator of the Max Fleisher (Popeye) cartoons appearing in the local cinemas. Animator means drawer. So saying, I remain your Falcon commentator who likes very much the sign hanging in Sam Goldwyn's office which reads, "Failure begins only when you leave off trying, and as long as I am where I am I will never leave off trying to succeed" . . . That's all—Goodluck!

DISTRICT THINCLADS ASSEMBLE TO DECIDE SCHOOLBOY LAURELS

Toledo Scott Wins Class A Title; Oak Harbor And Genoa Tie For 'B' Crown

The annual N. W. O. District High School Track and Field meet was held Saturday, May 20, on the Bowling Green State University track. Preliminary events began at 10:00 A. M. with four hundred athletes competing for qualifying positions. In the afternoon 2500 spectators braved heavy rainfall to view the finals which began at 1:30 P. M.

Toledo Scott, pre-meet favorite in class "A", ran up 66½ points to retain the championship which they captured last year. Toledo DeVilbiss furnished Scott's chief opposition and finished up second with 38½ points. Lima Central was third with 22 points, while following closely in fourth place with 21 points was Findlay. Down in fifth was a third Toledo school, Waite, with 17½ points.

Pioneer, defending class "B" champion, came in a close third in this division with 31 points. Out in front were Genoa and Oak Harbor who tied for first place with 35 points each. Wayne, Wood county representative, garnered 17½ counters to place fourth and Lakeside, from the neighboring Ottawa county, came in fifth with 14½ points.

Coach P. E. Landis and a corps of officials were credited with running the meet off in record order. Despite intermittent thunder showers during the afternoon the meet failed to be delayed and the order of events was carried out according to the schedule. The track was slow due to the heavy rain and no meet records were broken or equaled as a result. One field event record, made in 1926 when A. Rader of Port Clinton tossed the shot 45.4 feet, was broken in class B as Weber of Pettisville came through with a toss of 47 ft. 7 inches.

A feature of the afternoon session was the appearance of Grazia Grant, University May Queen, and her attendants. Presentation of awards during the afternoon was made by this group of lovely coeds. First, second, and third place winners received medals and fourth and fifth winners were given ribbons. The Falcon band played at the flag raising ceremony and continued the entertainment program by playing several selections as the meet progressed.

Varsity Washout Freshmen In Intra-Squad Track Meet

Losers Ducked In Powell's Pool

Freshman trackmen received a chance to communicate with the bottom of Dr. Powell's fish pond Monday evening for their great work in pressing the varsity to the limit in the intra-squad fracas before losing out 71-59. The ducking was rather severe in some cases as some of the freshmen were injured by the sharp stones on the bottom of the pool.

The greenhorns showed great promise as prospective varsity cinder men as they capped firsts in seven of the 15 events.

Ed Wellner led the Frosh endeavors as he collected 19 points. He took first in both hurdle events and broad jump and second in the high jump and third in the century dash. Goterba paced the varsity men with 11 counters.

The weakness of the yearlings in the dashes and short runs spelled defeat for them.

The results were as follows:

2 Parker, F
3 Allison, V

"My heart is in China," sincerely spoke Mrs. Samuel H. Lowrie, wife of Dr. S. H. Lowrie, head of the sociology department. While Dr. Lowrie worked on his research in Columbia University, Mrs. Lowrie went on to China and taught for eight months at the Coochow University in his place. Upon his arrival she then went to Tsung Hua, a private school operated by the famous Wang family of Soochow, and taught English. "Working under the natives, greater confidence and an educative value is received," spoke Mrs. Lowrie. In the Chinese people, Mrs. Lowrie says, she finds the most cultured group she has met.

Mrs. Lowrie was born in west Texas. She attended Junior College, then Southwestern University, at Georgetown, Texas, where she majored in English and was a member of the Pi Delta sorority. She then taught in New Jersey. For her graduate work she went to Columbia and majored in sociology. While doing her graduate work, her very full schedule included teaching at the Scudder School in New York and studying vocal lessons under Madame Fidelia Dario.

Following her life in China, Mrs. Lowrie with her family, moved to Sao Paulo, Brazil. There again she assumed a teaching position in history and sociology. One of the interesting projects Mrs. Lowrie followed was forming the Sunday evening forum for the young British and American colonists. Three hours daily in social service work, serving as President for the Society of American Woman and two years on the board of directors in the community church, occupied a major portion of her time too.

Peggy Slade

"My two children are the biggest interest in my life," answered Mrs. Lowrie when questioned about her hobbies, but writing, gardening, playing tennis, radio work, and public speaking are some of her diversified interests. "Life in Foreign Countries," an informal essay written by Mrs. Lowrie, was published in Vogue. "Unofficial Ambassadors", constituted of travelers, cinemas, and newspaper headlines, also has been published, and Mrs. Lowrie presented it in one of her talks in Bowling Green.

As a fair warning to Dr. Lowrie's students, it should be known that when he started his graduate work at Columbia, his interest was in English but under the persuasion of Mrs. Lowrie he found sociology a more congenial field. (Better watch your "these and thoses.")

Library Improves Service as Book Collection Grows

In keeping with the whole development of the University, the Library has made continual improvement and is striving to meet the varied demands now being made on it by both undergraduates and graduates.

Periodicals in the Library are becoming increasingly important, particularly for graduate work. The Library now subscribes for 197 magazines. Starting July 1, the list will be increased to over 300, the added magazines being mostly scholarly journals in the subject fields.

This increase will also enable the Library to meet fully the requirements of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools for institutions which grant the master's degree.

Open 77 Hours Per Week

The Library is being used more this year than ever before. In former years the Library was open an average of 52 hours a week. During the past year this has been increased to 77 hours per week. The circulation of books has increased 60 per cent over the previous year, and use of the main reading room has doubled, according to Mr. Edmon Low, University Librarian.

Mr. Low became librarian in June, 1938, succeeding Miss Ethel Blum, librarian since 1921. Mr. Low received his library training at the University of Illinois and University of Michigan Library Schools.

Changes Made

During his short tenure here he has instituted several changes in the Library and the Library policy which has given rise to the increased use of the Library. He will be absent from the campus this summer while serving as an instructor in the University of Michigan Library School.

During the past year the Library has received more than 2400 volumes as gifts. Many individuals have made contributions, but the bulk of the gifts have come from the following sources:

The Clayton C. Kohl Collection of 1500 books and several hundred magazines was given by Mrs. Kohl in honor of the late Dr. Kohl. They are chiefly in the fields of history, sociology, religion, and philosophy. A memorial book plate has been designed by Miss Grace Wills of the art department and will be placed in each book.
